

venue, urban winery, 175-seat restaurant, and private event space for up to 1,000 guests — sure to give its Ivy City neighbors and greater Washington residents alike a new destination to enjoy.

“We are so pleased to welcome Heather and Colleen to the leadership team at City Winery Washington D.C.,” said Michael Dorf, City Winery’s founder and CEO. Otto brings more than 16 years of experience in hospitality, having served in several management positions of popular Hard Rock Cafe locations up and down the East Coast. Hendricks spent 10 years leading marketing and sales initiatives at high-volume New York and Washington-area entertainment and dining venues, most recently acting as director of sales for Carmine’s in D.C.’s Penn Quarter neighborhood, preceded by a position as director of sales for the Howard Theatre. City Winery Washington D.C. will be located at 1350 Okie St., NE, Washington D.C.

Most admired CEO

The Maryland Daily Record has named Ronald Attman, CEO of Acme Paper & Supply, one of Maryland’s 2017 Most Admired CEOs. This will be Attman’s third time being recognized with this award. Founded in 1946, Acme Paper & Supply is the leading Mid-Atlantic distributor of innovative, customized, and cost-effective packaging, equipment, and supplies to the hospitality, health care, recreation, education, food processing, and property management industries. Attman has worked with Acme for 50 years in a variety of roles, working his way up to the top leadership position.

and nonprofit executive directors throughout Maryland for their leadership and professionalism. “To be a Most Admired CEO means that you have gained the respect and admiration of those around you. It means you are making a positive impact on the lives of others,” said Suzanne Fischer-Huettner, publisher of The Daily Record. “Our honorees this year were nominated by co-workers, community organizations, and other leaders not just for their professional achievements but because they are truly admired by their peers and employees. The Daily Record is pleased to recognize their leadership in our state and beyond.” Congratulations!
